Knowledge, Attitudes and Perceptions towards Concussion in Non-Medically Trained GAA Personnel (“KapCing-P Study”)

The School of Health and Human Performance in Dublin City University (DCU) are currently performing a nationwide research project to investigate the knowledge, attitudes and perceptions towards concussion in Gaelic Games. They are currently recruiting players, coaches and referees greater than 18 years of age to partake in this research. Participants can be involved in Gaelic Football, Hurling or Camogie. They are currently contacting GAA club secretaries nationally and requesting that they communicate this project to all of their club's members. The research involves completing a short online questionnaire that will take approximately 8-10 minutes. The link for this questionnaire is:

<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/P78M6DG>

Below is a Plain Language Statement, that outlines the purpose of the research project, the benefits/risks to participants and the confidentiality agreement. Please take some time to read this before deciding if you would like to complete the questionnaire.

Contact details: siobhan.oconnor@dcu.ie; 017008579

Other Investigators: Mr. Shane Farrington, Mr. Enda Whyte, Ms. Roisin Leahy

Details of What Involvement Will Require:

The aim of this research project is to identify the current knowledge, attitudes and perceptions of coaches, players and referees towards concussion within the GAA. This information will form the basis for future education and targeted approaches to improve concussion management within Gaelic Games in a systematic, effective and personalised

Na Fianna Nuacht

way. This will ultimately lead to a healthier and safer environment for all Gaelic Games participants. Participation in this research will involve completing an online questionnaire that will take approximately 8-10 minutes. The questionnaire contains six sections including; 1) Basic information, 2) Past Personal Concussion History, 3) Concussion Knowledge, 4) Concussion Attitudes, 5) Return to Play/Rehabilitation after concussion, 6) Concussion Education

Confidentiality and Use of Data:

Confidentiality and anonymity is of utmost importance in this study. You will anonymously complete an online survey that will not request any identifying personal information including your name, date of birth, address or GAA club. If you complete the hard copy of the questionnaire, the research team will transfer these results directly to a Microsoft Excel sheet, which will be password locked. The hardcopy of the questionnaire will be stored in a locked cabinet in the principle researchers office in the School of Health and Human Performance(DCU) where it will be shredded 12 months after completion of the research. It must be noted that protection of this data is subject to legal limitations. It is possible for data to be subject to subpoena, freedom of information claim or mandated reporting by some professions. Benefits (Direct or Indirect) to Participants

You will have the opportunity to highlight what type of concussion education you would like to receive, which could form the basis for future education within the GAA. Also, by completing the research you will be assisting in the formation of a safer playing environment for all GAA personnel.

Potential Risks to Participants

There are no serious potential risks to you. It should be noted that the questionnaire involves multiple questions addressing your knowledge and attitude towards concussion. These questions include information regarding your own past experiences with concussion. If you have any concerns regarding a misdiagnosis or mismanagement of a concussion you should arrange an appointment with your General Practitioner (GP) to discuss these concerns.

Voluntary Involvement:

Involvement within this research project is purely voluntary. You are free to withdraw from the study at any stage without prejudice or reason. There will be no penalty enforced on any participants wishing to withdraw prior to the study being completed.
